Volunteers Pave the Way for Ohio's Bridle Trails

Trail Chairmen, Ohio Horseman's Council, Inc.

- A new Information Mosk was built where you enter the camp and new manure pits have been installed.
- In the spring of 2017, two new bathrooms will be finished, and a new shelter will be added.
- The Fairfield County Chapter of OHC has also been busy, working hard on the group camp, with new tie lines and gates. They have also put more stone on the driveway.

OHC Volunteers from 13 counties helped during the Merikamp work week.

The next project was Blue Rock State Park and Forest. Blue Rock was a trial project between the OHC and ODNR in 2017. A short trail will be added so that you do not have to ride the same trail on your way back to camp. There is also a plan to move some of the road riding trails off of the roads, and is also putting a shelter in the horse camp in the near future.

Projects were done at Barkecamp State Park at the annual Glibby Memorial work week and ride. Tie line improvements were made, a concrete manure pit pad was poured, a bulletin board was put up at the shelter house, and work on the trails and the camp.

The last project I would like to mention was set up by ODNR at Cassius Creek State Park. Major repairs, made possible with grant money, were performed on the trails. Most of the work was performed by ODNR with help from Warren County Chapter of OHC members and friends.

Not only a short list of activities, but also a list of activities that were engaged in. We hope you will be engaged in these improvements at these camps when you ride the trails, and about joining OHC to show your appreciation for these efforts.
